In a new and crucial climate change development, the Los Angeles Lakers have won their 15th World Championship. (For the northerners, that's 11 more than the Warriors and Kings combined.). Hooray!

Now, all we need to do is figure out how to pay for the parade….