

There's a lot of interesting stuff out there. Not as interesting as Legal Planet, maybe, but let's give credit where credit is due. Here's some of the latest:

What Happened to Acid Rain? How we (partially) solved a major environmental problem.

China is Taking over the Solar Energy Market. Apparently somebody thinks there's money in renewables.

UC Campuses Go Green. Three UC Campuses, including UCLA and Berkeley, are leading the charge for more sustainable universities. Too bad they're not so good at paying the salaries of their faculty and staff.

Pawlenty Repositions. Now that he's running for the GOP Presidential nomination, Pawlenty's previous enthusiasm for climate mitigation is "evolving" in the direction of the GOP base. I wish he'd taken environmental law from me rather than Contracts.
