

 Jason Czarnezki, who teaches environmental and natural resources law at Vermont Law School, has a new blog, Czarnezki.com: Life, Law, and the Environment. Jason often has interesting things to say about the relationship of everyday life to environmentalism and environmental law. His blog is sure to be worth checking out.