

"I don't always read blogs, but when I do, I read Legal Planet."

You've heard the ads. But what about the world's most interesting environmental lawyer?

He met his Kyoto commitments — in 2003.

His air basin is an extreme ATTAINMENT area.

Justice Scalia decides based on his committee reports.

He has standing whenever he wants it.

He never defers to the administrative agency.

Any others?

Stay thirsty, my friends....
