
Image from University of South Carolina Law Library

The most famous case about climate change is Massachusetts v. EPA, which led to a key decision by the U.S. Supreme Court. But there have been dozens of other lawsuits, and more are coming all the time. Fortunately, there's a handy on-line resource for tracking all these cases. It's worth taking a look at.