Given the speed with which this story is unfolding and the overwhelming number of voices being heard, it’s very hard to keep up or to separate the wheat from the chaff. The Berkeley Law Library has created a new database of carefully selected resources relating to the BP spill — government reports and hearings, white papers from think tanks, press reports, and websites from all the key players. Each is accompanied by a brief description. If you’re trying to follow the oil spill story carefully, I’d really suggest bookmarking this page.