I’ve been part of a very interesting discussion about why we have public lands over at PropertyProf Blog. You can check it out here.