

Donald Smith has put together a list of environmental tweeters worth following, including environmental scientists, other scientists with environmental interests, media folks, and environmental groups. For that matter, you can also follow my blog posts via @dfarber if for some reason that's easier than using the Legal Planet website to keep track. I have to admit, however, to not being terribly twitter-savvy.