Marc Mihaly

We’re delighted to report that Marc Mihaly, a graduate of Berkeley Law School, will be the next dean of Vermont Law School.

Before his move to Vermont, he was a partner at Shute, Mihaly & Weinberger, a law firm specializing in government, land use, natural resource and environmental law.

Vermont is best-known for its environmental law program, and we are confident that the program will make further progress under his leadership.