

The UCLA Law Review is holding a symposium next Friday, November 1 - Toward a Clean Energy Future: Powering Innovation Through Law.

Leading scholars from around the country will be at UCLA School of Law for the day to discuss innovative energy technologies, international energy issues, the challenge of new energy technology diffusion, and the role of law in facilitating a clean energy future.

These topics could not be more important or timely. If you are in Los Angeles next week, we hope you will be able to join us. The event is free and open to the public.

You can RSVP at uclalawreview.org/symposium or by emailing lsymposium@lawnet.ucla.edu.

See here for a symposium agenda and further information about the event.

