

Many hope that the Pope's impending encyclical on climate change (and inequality) will change the debate on both topics. Certainly right-wing Catholics are getting nervous about it. But who will get the movie rights? I don't know, but here's a potential trailer. What does this have to do with Mike Tyson? Just watch: